A TOAST TO THE SCHOOL

by Helen Nicholas

Delivered at the Senior Banquet March 20, 1943

Master of ceremonies and honored guests:

In rising to make this toast, it is difficult to find words that will properly and adequately describe the emotions and thoughts that lie so deep in our hearts at such a historical moment in our individual lives.

Yes, I feel that it is and always will be a historical moment for us all. Some of you will become heroes upon the battlefields—some, leaders in other fields. And some of us will become the hard-working non-complaining American citizens, so badly needed.

Yet, no matter what we become, we will hold the memories of our high school days reverently in our hearts as the foundation for that future life.

Each wall, each door, each hall, reminds us of some past act, good or bad, which we can never forget. Our teachers represent to us the finest and highest ideals of American manhood and womanhood. For the past four years they have been working with us and for us day and night, aiding us in solving our perplexing problems of life, and guiding our minds and bodies in the most wholesome of all activities. Yes, I will admit that we have disagreed with them at times. But these disagreements only impressed further upon us their superiority in intelligence and character, causing us to love them all the more.

The Waynesville High School has been a comfort and shelter to us for four years. It has been our second home. Here we have studied and learned the things that change boys and girls into men and women.

And now, in drinking this toast to our past ideas and ideals, let us drink a challenge to the future. Let us challenge ourselves to make the very best of our future lives, and by thus doing, glorify the name of our school.

To Our Boys In The Service of Our Country

This Yearbook is dedicated to those members of the Senior Class and Faculty who have this year left the classrooms of the Waynesville High School for service in the armed forces of our nation. They are risking everything that we who remain at home and all future generations may enjoy the privileges of free men. This record of pleasant activities together will serve to keep bright memories of these whom we honor and to remind us of the charge we have to keep, lest we break faith with our own of this day and with the generations of our fathers who gave us our glorious heritage of freedom.

Class Poem

by Jarvis Brock

As we near the end of our high school life
 And gaze at the years gone by,
 We think of our classmates we hold most dear
 As the parting hour draws high.

For four long years we have sailed the blue
 On Knowledge, a seaworthy ship.
 And now we arrive at our cherished goal
 As we near the end of our trip.

And we realize now as we never before
 That our journey was really not bad.
 Although we have had our ups and our downs,
 'Twas the best time we'd ever had.

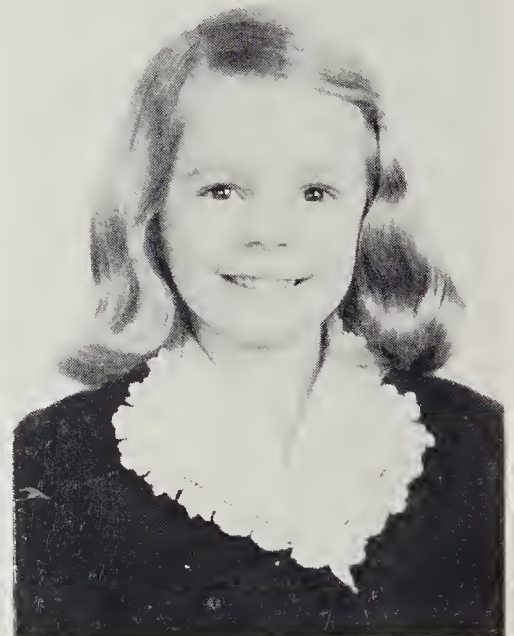

Let's remember now our lads in the fight,
 Those laughing fellows we knew,
 Who gave up their places their country to serve
 And stand by the Red, White, and Blue.

As we think of that group we all so adore
 Who have been both our guide and key,
 We each owe a gift of gratitude
 To all of the faculty.

Wherever we go throughout this fair land,
 This country so lovely and free,
 May we always look back and remember with pride
 This great class of forty-three.

A Prophecy for the Class of 1943

I awoke the other night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw, within the moonlight of my room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
A hillbilly writing in a book of gold—
And to the hillbilly in my room I said,
"What writest thou?" He raised his head,
And this is what he said: "In the future you will see:

Haywood, Colvin, and Gene still trying to get along with the top sergeant who isn't as patient as their teachers used to be.

Doris and Dwight and Pat and Bill happily married.

Lyle Coffee still grumbling, but now it is about hardware.

Helen Hannah still selling milk for Mrs. Sloan.

Junior Davis in Hollywood supporting Mrs. Medford.

Pat Dungan and Mary Ellen Boone, a famous jitterbug team touring the country.

Bruce Jaynes coaching at W. T. H. S.

Vivian Clark settled in a sweet little rose-covered bungalow in Canton.

Stanley Henry hedge-hopping in California.

Rosemary Herman sitting behind her desk in the Methodist Publishing House.

Johnny Crockett offering stiff competition to Bob Hope.

Caroline Stephenson, using her beautiful penmanship, is now an artist for The Toggery.

Bobby Colkitt is leading photographer for "Look".

Mabel Browning is new home ec teacher.

Evelyn Pearce is still squirting fancy decorations on cakes.

Robert Trembly is a famous orator.

Nora Galloway is saying sweetly, "Number Please".

Olin Yant and Hugh Constance with their Admirals.

Ruth Gooding leading a championship girl's basketball and track team.

Helen Mitchell is secretary to Carmel Hollingsworth, the leading farmer in Francis Cove.

Fannie Howell has invented a machine that writes shorthand accurately.

Donald Moody and A. J. Garrison have been appointed to the Haywood County School Board.

Doris Grahl is singing in the Metropolitan Opera.

Martha Mae Wyche is owner of a large racing stable in Kentucky.

Lena Winchester has opened up her own little dress shop.

Jack Lyle is raising food on his huge estate for the starving countries.

Marie Miller is waiting for the fleet to come in and Grace Wilburn is waiting for the army to come off of maneuvers.

Helen Nicholas is using her genius and teaching math, especially plane geometry.

Nina Mae Norman is touring the country as typing champion of 1948.

John Jackson and Jack Arrington are playing pro-football in Pearl Harbor.

Sara Lee Davis is manager of Henderson's Corner and Betty McElroy is her assistant.

Elizabeth Mitchell has decorated her living room with 4-H awards.

Verlin Setzer and Francis Boyd are proprietors of the "Blue Haze Novelty Shop".

Betty Bradley is owner of a Dude Ranch on Eagle's Nest Drive.

R. L. Wilson is announcing for "Big Sister" over
W. W. N. C.

Velma McClure and Lillian Turner are Navy nurses and have just been awarded their commissions.

Robert Clement is still taking it easy.

Dorothy Hall has learned to weld smoothly.

Eugene Gibson is still getting black eyes playing football.

Wilsie Ann Haney is now playing nursemaid to her own children.

Kurt Weill has become famous as a designer of shoes.

Grace Jones has finally made Arthur Paul Evans look at her twice.

Jerry McKinley is still getting along with all the cute boys.

Dorothy McClure is helping Mabel Browning teach those lazy children how to cook.

Edward Robinson is singing with Gene Autry.

Glennie Johnson has made herself famous teaching at W. T. H. S.

Mildred Messer is still trying to read her shorthand accurately.

Bob Parsons and Bill Frazier are still trying to cool their feet off after some of those thirty mile hikes.

Then I said, "And is mine one?" But the hillbilly replied, "Nay, not so."

But I perked up and said, "Then write me as one who loves his fellowmen."

Then the hillbilly wrote and disappeared. The next night the hillbilly came again

And showed the names upon his list and lo!

M. H. Bowles led all the rest!

Last Will and Testament

We, the senior class of 1943, having come to the end of our days at Waynesville High School, do hereby bequeath certain of our treasured possessions to the classes which succeed us, in order that these possessions shall not be lost but shall be perpetuated within the walls of our beloved school. Therefore, we make known unto all whom it may concern this, our last will and testament:

ITEM I:

To the tenth grade we leave all our dignity, seriousness, and sense of humor.

To the ninth grade we leave an ample supply of icy radiators, hungry locker rats, and lunchroom soup.

To the eighth grade we leave the privilege of calling their senior annual what they please.

ITEM II:

Miss Butler's chemistry class leaves a few flasks and beakers unbroken in order that next year's class may have the pleasure of breaking them.

Dick Hall leaves his drum major uniform to Virgil Hoglen, if it will fit.

Billy Liner leaves his talent for aggravating Mrs. Medford to Erwin Burgin.

Mrs. Kellett's seniors leave the alarm clock to the juniors to wind and set regularly.

Martha Mae Wyche leaves Gene Howell to anyone who can handle him.

Linuel Miller leaves his pretty red hair to Mary Alice Davis.

Stan Henry leaves his ninety-yard touchdowns to Loffy Scruggs.

Edith Atkinson leaves her overalls and plaid shirt to Bonnie Howell.

Mary Ellen Boone leaves her grades to Oren Coin. He'll need 'em.

Jarvis Brock leaves his version of "Semper Paratus" to Miss Butler.

Bonnie Mills leaves her marriage license to Charlie Way and Dot Greer.

Hester Ann Francis leaves her ability to cook to Miss Craig—pardon us, Mrs. Sloan.

Our undefeated football team of '43 leaves its perfect record for the team of '44 to live up to.

Adelaide Davis leaves her blue eyes to Ruth Evans.

Bob Colkitt leaves his candid classroom snapshots to the annual staff of '44.

Edna Ferguson leaves her social standing in Canton to Nan Liner.

Ruth Ball leaves her nick-name "Blondie" to Carolyn Burgin.

Rex Hosaflook leaves his baritone horn to Billy Burgin.

Bill Rodgers, who has gone to the Navy, leaves Louella Hall to some nice civilian boy, for the duration. Please return her.

Neal Leatherwood and Ralph Winchester leave their bus routes to anyone who can make it on a freezing winter morning.

Frank Smith leaves his Spanish translations to Jess Crouser.

Barbara Wright leaves her freckles to Margaret Scruggs.

Billy Davis and Jack Edwards leave their cute grins to Clyde Roberts.

Laura Winchester, Virginia Fowler, and Agnes Finger leave their sweet smiles to any smart junior girls who want to get along.

Wanda Parris, Lillian Ross, Edna Rogers, and Ollie Tranthan leave the information, "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds", to Marzell Webb and Mary Wells.

Edith Summerrow leaves her cute clothes to Dot Leatherwood.

Ruth Wagenfeld leaves her winning personality to Mimi Gosline.

Eugene Howell leaves his namesake, Gene Howell, a good reputation which he hopes will be kept intact.

Juanita Noland leaves about the prettiest pair of black eyes we have seen to Louella Hall. Keep 'em flashing.

Mrs. Green leaves her memory to the faculty. They will be glad to remember one good student.

Mildred McRorie leaves her cute smiles and fighting spirit to what ever junior needs them.

Bub Teague, our class grumbler, leaves his talent at grumbling to Bobby Green.

Sam Frady leaves his place in the string band to anyone who can qualify.

Keith Ketner and Richard Bradley leave their knowledge of farming to any of the girls who plan victory gardens next year.

Thelma Jones leaves her sweet disposition to Louise Martin.

Dorothy Brock, Thelma Burress, Anna Cline, and Nina Garrett leave their quiet attention to anyone who wants to get along with the teachers.

Dwight Beaty leaves his curls and makeup, which he used in the dramatics club, to Billy Millar.

Glenna Mae Hosaflook leaves her "age of innocence" look to Edith Camp.

Worley Owen and Kenneth Compton leave their studious and pleasing ways to Harry Jaynes and Arthur Paul Evans.

Edith Moss and Lula McCracken leave their smiles to Louise Stevens and Margaret Palmer.

Charles Davis leaves his insomnia to Jesse Crouser.

Edgar Ammons leaves his seat by the radiator to some cold junior.

ITEM III:

The senior class leaves eskimo outfits complete with fur-lined hoods to Miss Terrell, Miss Withers, and Mrs. Jones.

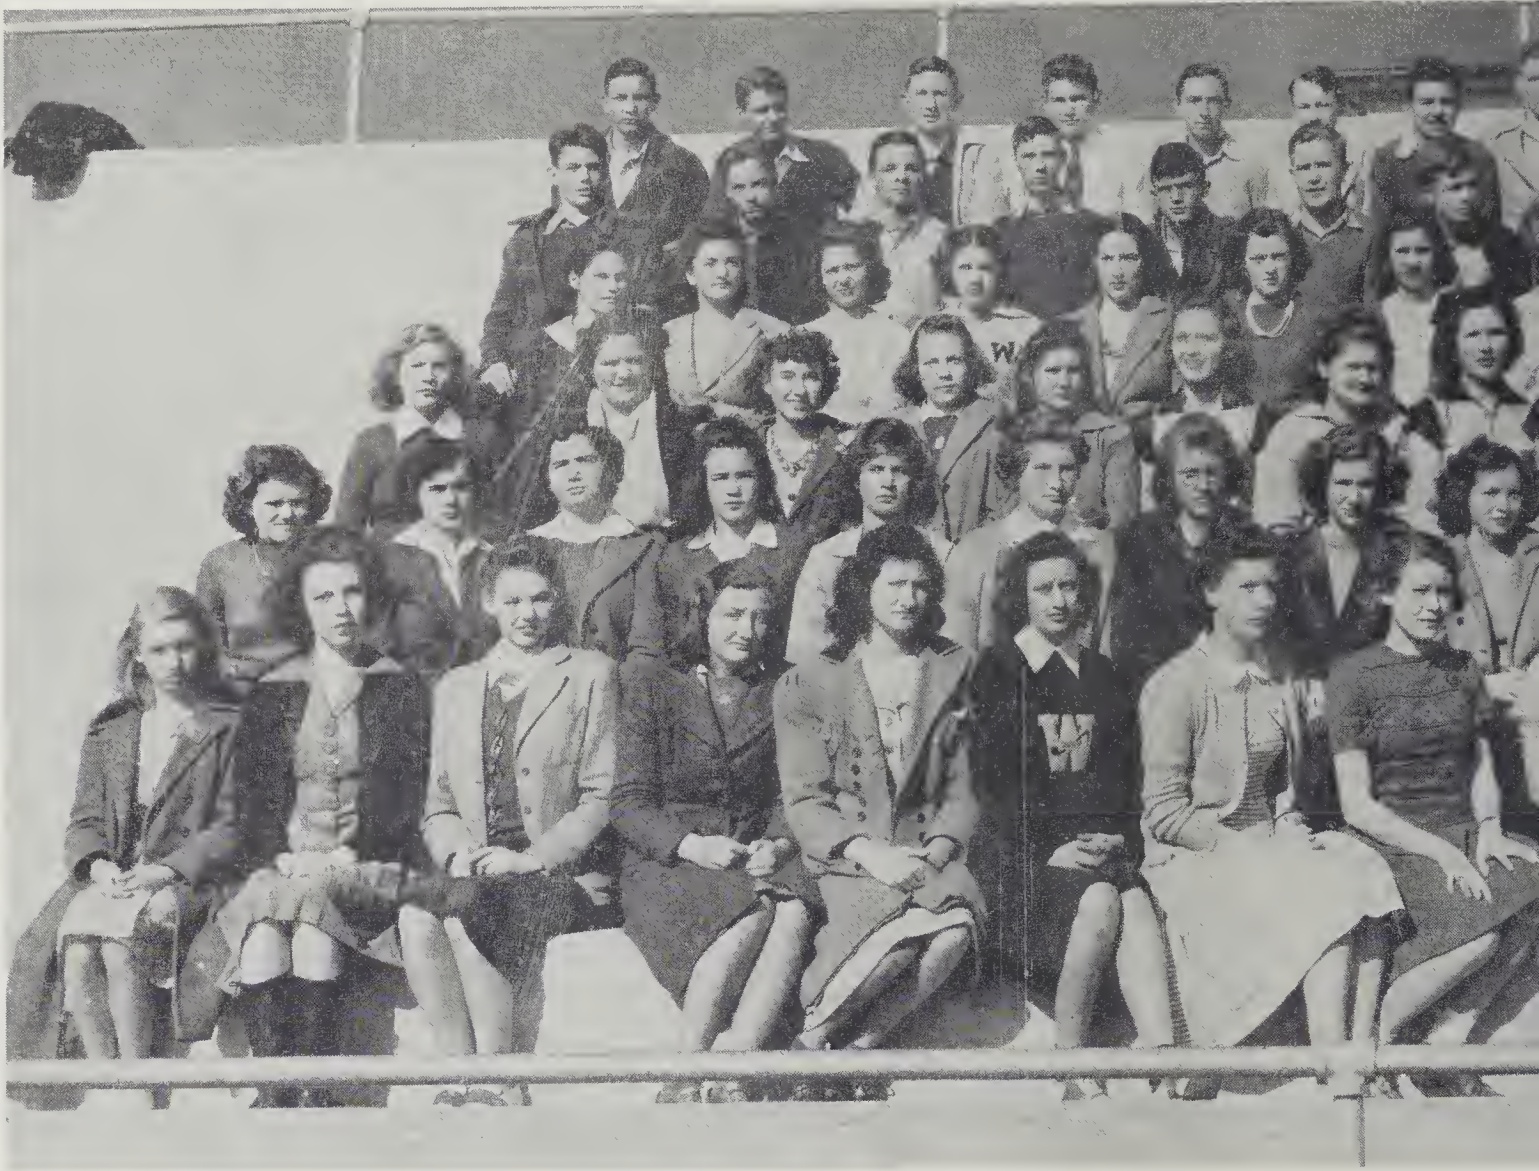

To the school as a whole the class leaves "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Grandfather's Clock" with the instructions that they be sung on all future chapel programs as they have been in the past.

ITEM IV:

Besides these gifts we leave our tender memories of our pleasant associations together, and our forgiveness for anything we may have done that was not exactly appreciated in the past, and a pledge of friendship henceforth and forever.

We, the senior class of 1943, have hereunto set our bond and affixed our seal this 26th day of April, 1943.

Betty Jane Bradley, Testator.

No---

the biggest word in the ENGLISH LANGUAGE

ALL DECISIONS of governments, business, military, and civic matters rest on this one little two-letter word.

Great empires have tumbled because their rulers forgot to use the word. Millionaires have overnight become paupers when they failed to use the word wisely.

Your character, your course in life, and life itself are built upon this little word. No other one word can change one's life so quickly and completely as the misuse of "no"

When in doubt as to the right answer, say "no".

Mr. Bowles: "This makes five times I have punished you this week. Now, Eugene, what have you to say?"

Eugene Medford: "Well, I'm glad it's Friday."

Betty Bradley: "I thought I told you to come after supper."

Dick Hall: "That's what I came after."

Mr. Clement: "Robert, you should show more ambition. When I was your age I worked in a store for $3.00 a week, and in five years I owned the store."

Robert: "You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers."

A guide, showing Mrs. Sloan through the zoo, took her to a cage occupied by a kangaroo.

"Here, madam," he said, "we have a native of Australia."

"Good gracious!" she replied, "and to think my sister married one of them!"

Clyde Greer: "If you keep looking at me like that I'm going to kiss you."

Jerry McKinley: "Well, I can't hold this expression much longer."

Carmel Hollingsworth: "I always fight the enemy with his own weapons."

Ruth Ball: "How do you go about stinging a wasp?"

Jr. Davis: "Hey, what's the hurry? Where are you going?"

Edward Robinson: "I'm trying to stop a fight."

Jr. Davis: "Who's fighting?"

Edward Robinson: "Me and another fellow."

Nora Galloway (at concert): "Doesn't that contralto have a large repertoire?"

Lillian Turner: "Yes, and that dress makes it look worse."

The doctor was examining school children. One of them was found to be underweight.

"You don't drink milk?" the doctor asked Eugene Howell.

"Nope," was Eugene's reply.

"Live on a farm and don't drink milk at all?"

"Nope. We ain't hardly got enough for the hogs."

German Flyer (at gates of Heaven): "We'd like to come in."

St. Peter: "How many are there in your group?"

Flyer: "Forty."

St. Peter: "Sorry, only four of you can enter."

Flyer: "Why?"

St. Peter: "That's all Goebbels said were shot down."

Little girls choose dolls for toys,
While soldiers are the choice for boys.

But when they've grown up, you'll find
That each has had a change of mind.

The girls prefer the soldiers then,
And baby dolls attract the men.

Mrs. Kellett went up to a war bond booth and said she wanted to buy some war bonds.

"Very well," said the salesman. "What denomination?"

"Methodist," she answered.

Mary Ellen: "Excuse me, Bruce, but is this a proposal or a weather report?"

After a sea battle, a group of men had climbed in a lifeboat—men of all nations were in it.

The boat was loaded too heavily, and three were required to jump out. The fellow in charge asked for volunteers to jump so the others might live.

The first to volunteer was an Englishman. Calmly he stepped on the edge of the boat, breathed, "God save the King," and jumped to a watery grave.

The second volunteer was a Frenchman. Murmuring "Vive la France," he also jumped.

The third was a German. He shouted loudly, "Heil Hitler," and threw an Italian overboard.

A. J. Garrison: "May I have a uniform?"
Suply Sergeant: "How do you want it—too large or too small?"

---

According to Hugh Constance this is the way it goes:
The Army: "Hello, girls, you wouldn't care to go with us, would you?"
The Marines: "Hello, girls, you'll go with us, won't you?"
The Navy: "Hello, girls, where are we going?"
